

THE GRENADA SENTINEL

VOLUME LXXXVI

GRENADA, MISSISSIPPI, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1938

NUMBER 19

A PARTING STATEMENT; SENTINEL TO HAVE NEW PUBLISHER

With this issue of The Sentinel, the present publisher, editor and owner goes into retirement as a publisher, temporarily if not permanently.

The fact that The Sentinel is one of the leading weekly publications in Mississippi, and no one will deny this, is due to the brains possessed by my father, O. F. Lawrence, and brother Malcolm, who have passed on. They published a splendid newspaper on a high plane, I have endeavored to follow in their footsteps but, of course, that was impossible in every respect.

There are three newspapers in Grenada at the present time and if the publisher of any one of them claims that he has, or is making money, well, he just is not telling the truth or does not know how to add two and two.

True, there is glory in editing a newspaper to the man that has had printer's ink on his hands, but only the dead live in glory, the living must live on "doe re me". We don't consider ourselves making money unless we can lay something aside each month for a "rainy day." No publisher will ever be able to do this in Grenada with three publications in Grenada, unless the number of inhabitants is greatly increased.

Therefore, with these things in mind, I accepted a proposal submitted to me by Mr. Frank Jones, Senior, present editor of The Daily Star. Mr. Jones made me a proposition to sell or lease The Sentinel, or buy or lease The Daily Star. I agreed to lease The Sentinel.

Mr. Jones is well known to the people of Grenada County, having published The Daily Star for a little over three years. Both he and his family are hard workers, and that is what it takes to get out a decent paper. I feel sure that they, together with employees, will work equally as hard to publish a good Sentinel, acceptable and appreciated by the general public.

The Sentinel's advertisers and readers have been exceedingly considerate of me and The Sentinel's welfare, for which I am truly grateful. I have endeavored to publish a Sentinel that was free from vulgarity and sordid news, a paper that anyone would not mind his child, mother or sister reading. I have endeavored to publish public matters as they were, regardless of where the chips might fall. I may have made some enemies, that I can not say or help. Nevertheless, I have no regrets. I have learned much and have made many friends, and that I am proud of.

I hope that the present advertisers of The Sentinel will appreciate the coverage that The Sentinel has at this time and with two papers, published by one publisher, the coverage will be much greater and will offer you possibilities never before to be had through a newspaper in Grenada.

I commend Mr. Jones to your confidence and your favor and hope, that not only advertisers and readers of The Sentinel but, all good people of Grenada County will rally to his support.

May the people of Grenada and Grenada County grow and prosper and may hope and promise ever be yours is my wish.

Sincerely yours,
RICE LAWRENCE.

Fourth Quarterly Conference Held At Bethel Church

After An Inspirational Sermon A Most Bounteous Dinner Was Spread

Duck Hill, Miss., Sept. 28—The fourth quarterly conference of the Duck Hill Methodist Church Circuit was held at Bethel Church Friday, September 23. The Rev. A. T. McIlwaine, Presiding Elder of this, the Greenwood District, delivered a most interesting message to an appreciative audience composed largely of stewards, laymen and other church workers.

After this inspirational sermon the good women of the church served a most bounteous dinner that would have done justice to any community.

On re-entering the church the devotional was given by Rev. C. A. Parks, pastor of the Grenada Church, then the sacrament of the Lord's Supper; then followed the business session. Some good reports and some not so good.

The faithful few of Bethel Church who carry the financial part of the church gave in their report with "fear and trembling"—for fear their church would be discontinued, but this church must not fail and these splendid people need help.

Bethel Church is located eight miles from Duck Hill, and is one of the pioneer land-marks of Carroll county.

As we listened to the songs that re-echoed throughout the stately trees around this church and thought of the saints now sleeping in the church yard near this church of hallowed memories, whose faithful work and fervent prayers built this church, we thought also of the hardships, perhaps walking miles, or going in ox wagons, riding horses, and then later the buggies and carriages, then down to the present, the automobile age.

We think of the grand-parents, the mothers and fathers, sisters and brothers, and other relatives all sleeping out there and the (Please turn to page 8)

Legion Caravan To Arrive in Jackson Monday, October 3

Big Flotilla Is Now Crossing The Broad Expanse Of Texas

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 28—Nearing the end of a 5,750-mile overland journey to the National American Legion convention in Los Angeles and return, the Mississippi Legion caravan of five floats and two maintenance vehicles under leadership of Commander Walter Lee will arrive in Jackson next Monday afternoon.

The big flotilla is now crossing the broad expanse of Texas, having previously toured southern California, Arizona and New Mexico on the return trip. Louisiana is the last remaining state to be crossed before the Mississippians once again set foot on their native soil.

The state delegation's triumphant return trip from Los Angeles has been marked by gracious welcomes in all cities along the caravan route.

Arriving in El Paso Wednesday evening after crossing southern New Mexico, the state party were guests of honor at the Legion banquet, given by officials of the Legion post in this Texas city. Radio broadcasts Wednesday night featured Commander Lee and Miss Elaine Russell, who dedicated the throne of "Miss American Legion" at the national convention after having held the title for four consecutive years.

In Pecos, Texas, Thursday, the caravan party are to be guests of the Legion posts. A parade through the business district will be led by Post Commander Dewey Richburg, Caravan Commander Lee and Miss Russell, who is traveling with the caravan as personal representative of Governor Hugh White.

Sweetwater, Texas, will be the goal of the forty-first day on parading by the caravan. En route from Pecos the group will make stops at Midland and Big Springs. A radio broadcast is scheduled at Big Spring. The flotilla will arrive in Shreveport Sunday afternoon after visits to Dallas and Ft. Worth. Shreveport Legion officials have announced a supper in honor of the Mississippians. Continuing across Louisiana and into Mississippi Monday the state delegation will arrive in Jackson at five o'clock in the afternoon.

Dr. W. P. Ferguson Back With Us From California

Prefers To Be Here With Old Friends Rather Than Trip To Europe

Dr. William P. Ferguson returned to Grenada last Saturday after an absence of about seven years, during which time he has made his home with his step-daughter, Mrs. Hersee Moody Carson in Hollywood, California.

Mrs. Carson will leave for Europe in the near future if war does not break out and the political differences are amicably settled between the various nations. She expects to be gone about two years and Dr. Ferguson said that he just didn't care to be away from home that long, that he had much rather return to Grenada and be among his many friends here.

Dr. Ferguson celebrated his 80th birthday last March 25 but he appears to be in fine health.

The Sentinel hopes Dr. Ferguson's stay in Grenada will be a joyous one and wishes him many more years of happiness.

'Ben Grauer Has Fun'

This business of radio announcing may be work to some of the boys, but Ben Grauer has fun at his work, especially when he's associated with the Jesters trio, Jean Ellington and Johnny Gert on the "Texaco Circle Service Boys" program over Station WGRM. Grauer's ready wit is used to good purpose in verbal jousts with his colleagues of the Texaco show.

Winning Answer

An enterprising Florida newspaper offered a year's subscription for the best answer to this question: "Why is a woman like a newspaper?" Here are some of the answers:

"Because they are thinner now than they used to be."

"Because they are well worth looking over."

"Because they carry the news wherever they go."

But the one to win the subscription was this:

"Because every man should have one of his own and not run after his neighbor's."—Publishers Auxiliary.

Harry Greenfield Celebrates Birthday

On Wednesday, September 28, 1938, Mr. Harry Greenfield, of The Sentinel, enjoyed his 51st birthday. "Abe" as all of his friends fondly address him, and he has many friends—and no known enemies, is still a young man although he has passed a half century mark. He seems to always manage to see the bright side of everything and is happiest when he is giving and doing for others. He has proven a tried and true friend to many Grenadians and seems to always be there to help in time of trouble. The Sentinel wishes for Harry many more happy birthdays.

Canadian Star In Auto Races At State Fair

Collins Entered The Sports Field Via The Ice Hockey Route

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 28—Emory "Spunk" Collins, Canadian automobile racing champion, runner-up for the world's dirt track championship for three consecutive years, and present leader in the chase for the 1938 speed crown, is coming to Jackson to participate in the national circuit championship automobile race program at the Mississippi Free State Fair, October 10, 11, and 14.

Collins entered the sports field via the ice hockey route, and after starring for several years on Canadian units, joined a professional team campaigning out of Minneapolis. With funds saved from his endeavors over the rinks, he built his first racing car.

Back in 1924 he gained the reputation of being a "corner" in the auto race sports after he had proven his consistency in meets from his home town, Regina, Sask., to Toronto, Ontario, and thence back across the continent from Trenton, N. J. to the Minnesota State Fair motor competitions at St. Paul.

Graduating to faster cars year after year, he finally realized the ambition of every racing driver by becoming sole owner of a $10,000 Offenhauser-Miller racing creation. During the past few years the Collins-Offenhauser combination has been within striking distance of the world's dirt track crown on many occasions. Collins starred at the state fair races several years back.

By virtue of new world records for both set and intermediate distances over the last Iowa State fair track at Des Moines in June, Collins established himself in the lead for the titular crown this year. His entry into the Jackson events automatically places the stamp of importance on the Mississippi Free State Fair meet in as much as every aspirant for the year's dirt track crown must first defeat Collins before they may lay claim to the championship, and the 3-day racing classic at Jackson will offer this opportunity when the stocky Canadian will attempt to retain his lead by a repetition of his sterling performances set during the early part of the 1938 racing season.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS HAVE "CHANGED ATTITUDE"

Dorothy Taylor Winner In Happy Homer Contest

Final Contest To Be Conducted In Jackson, Thursday, October 6th

Winner in the Happy Homer Radio Star Contest, in connection with Better Living Institute, sponsored by the Mississippi Power & Light Company, and cooperating appliance dealers, at the Grenada High School auditorium, Tuesday night, September 27, was little Miss Dorothy Taylor, eight year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Taylor, of this city. She represented Sharp Furniture Company. Dorothy will compete against some fifteen or more winners from institutes in other cities in a final contest to be conducted in the Municipal Auditorium in Jackson, October 6th. Your vote may be the one that Dorothy will need to make her winner of this contest in Jackson. Your ballot, which you will fill out and send to Jackson Oct. 7, after the broadcast contest on October 6, will come attached to your light bill the first of the month.

A duplicate of the beautiful Modern Metal Kitchen was on display and was attractively presented by Miss Fannie Mae Isard, Home Service Director of Mississippi Power & Light Company. Mr. Sidney Chilton, as Happy Homer, spoke on and illustrated how better seeing meant better living.

Mrs. Rice Lawrence and Mr. H. D. Lane were the fortunate winners of the two beautiful lamps given away.

W. G. R. M. Under New Management, Increased Power

Will Add Tremendously To Grenada's Shopping Area

The "Voice of North Mississippi" which identifies our local radio station, WGRM, will within a few days be strengthened 150 watts. WGRM has been operating with 100 watts power but, according to the new manager, the station is being changed with an increased power of 250 watts. Necessary new equipment is being installed now and test for government approval will be made within a few days. This will add tremendously to Grenada's shopping area as local signal will be much stronger eliminating much of the local static and will be heard throughout North Mississippi from Jackson to Memphis, and from Louisiana to Alabama.

W. E. Williams is the new manager, sent here by Mr. P. K. Ewing, to succeed Mr. J. E. Richards. Mr. Williams came directly from the N. B. C. station, KFDM, Beaumont, Texas, where he has been for the past three years. He formerly was connected with KTAT, Fort Worth, Texas as commercial and production manager, being called from Chicago by the Southwest net work to take over activities at KTAT. Mr. Williams has been in radio since 1924, has served in every capacity, has handled local and national accounts, has several outstanding shows of his own which have been shown on both local, National and Columbia chain stations. He believes Grenada offers an excellent opportunity for a station and that the station will be of great service to Grenada as well as to entire North Mississippi. Manufacturers who formerly could not cover North Mississippi with one station are now offered this service. Civic bodies are invited to take advantage of the services at WGRM, and all that is necessary is to get in touch with the management or program director. The manager feels that WGRM is a local institution, here to serve local interests and offers us a constructive practical program backed by years of radio and merchandising experience. (Editor's Note: In August 12 issue of The Sentinel was published a statement by Mr. H. J. Ray (foreman of the Grand Jury, July term of Circuit Court) concerning resolution passed by the Board of Supervisors at their regular August meeting. In this statement Mr. Ray minced no words, he called an ace an ace and a spade a spade. However, he was most considerate, he left the way open for them to "back track," and that is what they have done.

In order that our readers, who may have missed the "fire works" in our issue of August 12, we are following the "back track" resolution, adopted by the board at their September meeting, with Mr. Ray's statement of August 12, and the resolution passed by the board at their August meeting).

"Back Track Resolution"

At the August meeting of this board a resolution was passed concerning that part of the grand jury's report concerning the State Auditor's Report relative to the board of supervisors; and since there was some misunderstanding by the board as to the intent and motive of the grand jury's report, it is hereby ordered by the Board that said resolution be modified, and further that it is not the purpose of the board to cast any insinuations of wrong intent on the part of the grand jury or any member thereof. J. L. Elliott voting "NO."

To Have Exhibit At Free State Fair Week of October 10

Drawing Most Interest Will Be The Aquarium With All Types of Game Fish

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 28—An elaborate exhibit featuring an aquarium with all species of Mississippi fish life will be displayed at the Free State Fair here during the week of October 10 by the State Game and Fish Commission. Installation of the exhibits in the Game and Fish Building is now underway.

Every phase of the commission's conservation program, education preservation and propagation, will be depicted in the exhibit.

Probably drawing the most interest will be the aquarium in which all types of game fish will be shown. Large glass tanks will be used for this purpose.

In addition, the plant life which furnishes food for fish as well as for migratory game will be shown in its native surroundings.

The education section will deal largely with the Plant and Animal Survey being undertaken with the aid of the Works Progress Administration. Actual field and laboratory work by the students of the 16 educational institutions cooperating in the program will be on display. Students from the institutions will at various times during the day demonstrate the workings of the program.

Progress of the quail restocking program being carried on in cooperation with Future Farmers of America and 4-H clubs will be illustrated.

Game Warden, outfitted in their new olive drab uniforms, will take part in one of the daily parades during the week's exposition. As nearly as possible, Mississippi's game and fish life will be exhibited in their natural surroundings. Game birds and other animals will be a part of the huge exhibit.

"Behind The Scenes In American Business"

(By John Craddock)
New York, Sept. 26.—BUSINESS—More so than ever, news became an important and highly valued commodity last week to U. S. businessmen. Exporters, importers, speculators, farmers, in fact all businessmen whose stock in trade anyway depends on foreign markets, literally devoured the news reports from Europe. For while normal business operations are still going on in America, it is realized that origination of constructive future plans is well nigh impossible as long as war or the fear of war rules over Europe.
Equally upsetting to U. S. business last week was a hurricane which interfered with trade and normal living for a thousand miles, from Atlantic City, throughout New England, to Montreal and Quebec. Occurring in the heart of a highly industrialized part of the country, the damage was put at more than $100,000,000. Ten thousand are homeless and at least 500 dead. Though Indian legend may record worse, it is believed to be the most severe storm ever to strike America's northeastern seaboard.

WASHINGTON — Nearly one quarter of the population will be in school this fall. The Department of the Interior estimates record-breaking enrollments as follows: Elementary schools, 22,400,000; high schools, 6,750,000; colleges and universities, 1,350,000. Reason for the big enrollment is traced back to the high birth rate averaging 23 per 1,000 population in the years 1920-24. Since the rate for the five years 1931-35, was down to 17.2 per thousand, a shrinkage in school attendance a few years hence seems inevitable. The teaching profession, even now over-crowded in some areas may then be faced with reduction in the ranks of its working members, unless new avenues for employment of professional talent such as adult education classes, consumer education classes and the like, can take up the slack.

LABOR VIEWS TAXES—Industry should work with labor for immediate revision of the American tax structure. That is the sense of what Matthew Wool, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, told the National Small Business Association in Pittsburgh. He contended that "taxes can and should be distributed more equitably and so as not to stifle business or to tax incentive which is the source of new industry and new employment." Though admitting that with current government expenses and the mounting public debt, it might be necessary to increase tax revenues next year, Wool protested excessive duplication of taxes, failure of federal, state and local taxing to define the use to which the indirect tax revenues were to be put, and the increasing trend toward hidden taxes. He termed it a critical time in the nation's history, adding that "upon the fairness of taxing plans to be worked out will rest the success of today's recovery spending program. If that fails, what shall follow—debt repudiation, or political and financial collapse?"

Observers viewed Well's attack on the present tax structure as significant of a new trend in labor's move to further cooperation with industry.

WHAT RETAILERS ARE DOING — Wondering if the new advertising stunt of New York State could be applied to their business. The slogan, "The State That Has Everything," is being printed on the checks it uses to pay bills and salaries. More than 2,000,000 of such checks are issued annually. Recognizing that comfort is a more potent argument in selling shoes to men than style. This was the finding of a recent survey which tallied the opinions of 5,000 men in all sections of the country. Distributing to women in grocery stores a handbill consisting of extracts from the food and home making articles in McCall's magazine. Each handbill features 10 or more products carried by the store. The magazine furnishes "mats" for these handbills which the stores turn over to their local printer.

THINGS TO WATCH FOR — Ice cream in cans; all that is required is to open the can, whip the contents and pour into the ice tray of a mechanical refrigerator. A newly introduced woolen blanket carrying a six-year written guarantee against moths. Larger windows and windshields in the 1939 model cars now being seen here and there on city streets, results of public demand for better driving visibility. Gasoline stations distributing football score books and game forecasts this autumn. A new way to cool drinks without diluting the water with melted ice; glass tubes filled with colored liquid are first cooled in the ice box, then used to stir the drink. An automobile of revolutionary design, in construction at Rochester, N. Y.; super-streamlined, it has only three wheels, two in front, one in back, an air-cooled motor, wheelbase of about 126 inches, and will be priced at about $500.

HEADLINES IN NEW YORK — Farm income from marketings in first eight months is $4,307,000,000, off 14 per cent from last year. Lumber output rises contras seasonally; orders advance; shipments top year ago. Cash bond prices fall sharply; investors appraise their value in terms of defaulted German securities. Southern Railway places additional orders to complete a $15,000,000 reconstruction program. Price cut of $2.50 a ton for steel expected to spur railroad purchases. R. H. Macy & Co. reports sales of $54,953,503, net loss of $601,039, for first six months of 1938.

DOWN THE ROAD

By Charles M. Upham, Engineer-Director
American Road Builders' Association
GERMANY'S SUPER-HIGHWAYS

When the average American thinks of Central Europe, he usually thinks of dictators, rearmament and war. Germany, in particular, is looked upon as a danger spot which may at any moment ignite another world conflict. All German activities, therefore, are studied for possible military significance. So, when Germany began its huge road-building program, which has resulted in a system of super-highways second to none, that activity was construed by many to be strictly a military project.

As a representative of the United States government to the recent International Road Congress at The Hague, I had the opportunity to travel over 3,000 miles of German highways, of which nearly 800 miles were part of the new Reich autobahn system. Whether or not it be true that these roads were constructed primarily for military purposes, it is most certainly true that they provide the German people with innumerable peacetime commercial, industrial, social and cultural benefits. Although these roads may some day be used to speed the movement of mechanized agents of death and destruction, they are at present responsible for an 83 per cent reduction in the number of traffic accidents.

Built into the German super-highways are most of the safety features that have long been recommended by American highway engineers. The new roads consist of two double-lane highways, each 25 feet wide, with opposing streams of traffic completely separated. Beyond these traffic lanes are adequate shoulders and a gradual slope to a drainage system. Railroad grade crossings and highway grade crossings have been completely eliminated with a majority of the intersecting roads being carried over the right of way of the new system by a most modern type of over-pass construction. All curves are super-elevated and the surface finish of the pavement is non-skid. Traffic is controlled at road junctions by a clearly defined and systematic layout and parking places are provided at carefully chosen intersections. Pedestrians, bicyclists and animals are excluded from the highways and no advertisements or billboards can be erected by the roadside. Efforts are being made to retain and to enhance the beauty of the landscape.

There is no speed limit in Germany. The roads are designed for speeds from 80 to 100 miles per hour, according to the topography of the country. It is also claimed that there have been no major accidents on the autobahn system chargeable to the condition of the road or to detail of design. This record is particularly remarkable when compared with the situation in the United States. Of the 40,000 traffic-accident fatalities in this country last year, it is estimated that about 10,000 were chargeable to the condition of the road.

State Market Basket Offers Food For Hungry Americans

Mississippians who think their state is the garden spot of the world find growing support for their enthusiasm in figures showing the widespread development of truck-crop farming.

A market basket of 50,000 acres containing $3,616,000 worth of vegetables was the state's offering to hungry Americans last year. It was quite a tiny basket that Mississippi first began sending to market 68 years ago. It has grown to its present magnitude out of a little flowerpot industry begun as a fad in Copiah county. Its growth has continued since the day in 1870 when a German immigrant boy, Augustus Lotterhor, obtained tomato seeds from Italy and began on a shoestring the enterprise which now surpasses cotton as the money crop of his area.

From that beginning at Crystal Springs, commercial gardening has spread over Mississippi. By 1925, approximately half the vegetables grown for market in the Mississippi Valley were produced in the state. Development of transportation facilities paved the way for today's vegetable shipping industry in the Copiah County area, center of the state's truck farming activities. In 1937 the county sent out 3,104 cars of the vegetable that has given Crystal Springs international fame as the world's "Tomatopolis."

The five-year average of Mississippi's average in tomatoes is 10,720, second to Texas in the group of states which ship early in the season, but the Mississippi yield is outstanding, for during the ten-year period from 1927 to 1936 the average yield in Mississippi was 119 bushels an acre as compared with 90 bushels in Texas, 60 bushels in Georgia.

The tomato scores high in the state's truck-crop income. But there are other vegetables forming the basis for shipping industries whose development has been but little less spectacular.
While the cash income from tomatoes last year was $1,277,000, Mississippi growers were receiving $1,837,000 for snap beans, beets, cabbages, carrots, green peas, green peppers, watermelons, Irish potatoes and strawberries.
Total carload shipments for 1937 were 185 of beans; 273 of peas; 2,369 of cabbages; 385 of mixed vegetables; 2,104 of tomatoes; 157

Business Women's Circle Meets

The Business Women's Circle of the Methodist Church met Tuesday night at 7:30 with Miss Lola Bell. There were twelve present. The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. C. A. Parks. The minutes were read by Miss Lizzie Horn in the absence of Miss Martha Post, secretary. Mrs. Grover Long, circle leader, welcomed the new members, who were all teachers. Ten verses from the eleventh chapter of Hebrew were read by Miss Pierce and Miss Jordan. A nominating committee, composed of Mrs. C. A. Parks, Mrs. Leslie Paige, Miss Lola Bell and Mrs. Grover Long, was appointed. Miss Bell led the devotional and Mrs. R. F. Matthews gave the lesson, using as her reference the book entitled "The American City and Its Churches".

The guests enjoyed several amusing games led by Miss Pierce. The meeting was dismissed with the Lord's Prayer. This circle will have its next meeting at 7:30 p. m., October 11th.

Miss Bell served delicious salad and Coca-Cola to her guests.

IT COULD NOT HAPPEN HERE

Soviet seed has taken root on this continent and that is exactly the reason for the continuance of mis-rule over the unfortunate people of our sister Republic of Mexico. That Republic has had a strange variety of presidents. The late president Calles lives in exile in California. Huerta lingered out his days in Texas. The reigning president is Lazaro Cardenas, a part of India by birth and full-blooded in methods. A late news report says that that Government is selling oil to Germany, from wells stolen from American firms.

The United States has always been, and still is lenient with Mexico, even though the heads of Government of that Republic refuse to respect their obligations as good, or bad neighbors. The expropriation of about $10,000,000 of farm lands owned by Americans remains the issue, though the implications extend to many multiples of that sum in valuable mineral and oil lands seized by Mexico.

Up until 1933 Mexico took away from their legal owners 25,000,000 acres of farm land, and under Cardenas in the past four years the racket speeded up as he added 31,000,000 more acres to Mexico's robber-chest. Only cultivated land was taken. Uncultivated land that might have been used to start new farmers on the way was not included in the seizures. During intervals between the early 20's and the present time Mexico seized and kept most of the property owned by the Catholic churches.

But to get back to the land: The total seizures, without paying even for the recording of the transfer, rose to 56,000,000 acres. Texas is the only State on our side of the border that has more lands in farms than that. Neither Kansas, Georgia, Iowa, the Dakotas, nor the Carolinas, have anywhere near as much farm acreage.

Mexico has taken the land from rich plantation owners and poor farm-owners, among whom are citizens of the United States. The "expropriated" lands, have been distributed to non-land-owners, which would be just the same proposition as taking United States land away from their lawful owners and giving them to the sharecroppers and tenant farmers. Of course, Secretary Hull spoke a plain truth when he called this "unadulterated confiscation"—otherwise unadulterated stealing. Official banditry of that sort has never yet darkened the pages of our national history.

Cardenas dodges the issue, and glibly replied to Hull: "Diplomacy itself has been converted into a protector of privileged concessions," he says in defending his connivance, which the U. S. Secretary says "runs counter to the basic precepts of all American republics." But the Minister of Education of Mexico makes the position of his country clearer. He says: "We shall install a socialistic education to prepare for the final abolition of the capitalistic system and the dictatorship of the proletariat." The Education-er let's the cat out of the bag.

CITIZENS OF SMALL TOWNS

There are about 3,000 county seats and 10,000 towns in the United States with eleven or twelve thousand weekly newspapers. There are approximately 2,000 daily newspapers. Cities of 100,000 inhabitants or more have a population of 36 million people.

The rural population is 53 million, together with an additional 10 million living in small cities, plus additional millions living in small towns and villages. Census statistics leave one with the impression that most places under 25 thousand inhabitants are connected with rural and small town regions, and so closely tied together in their human relation and trade that they constitute that great indistinguishable class of our people so often referred to as "small towns". Perhaps nearly two-thirds of the United States is outside the influence of the greater cities. In 13 or more states there are no cities in the big population league.

The people of small towns are often referred to as "the homefolks". Edwin S. Smith, a member of the National Labor Relations Board, worrying about these people who show more competency in attending to their own affairs than any other class of citizens is reported to have made a speech this month in Mexico City, in a hall filled with radicals, and hung with a sea of red banners, in which he declared that "the most disturbing sign of the times in the United States is the case with which citizens of small towns can be arrayed against vicious propaganda of employers." Administrator Smith apparently is ignorant of the fact that independent thinking has its strongholds among citizens of small towns. It is at least regrettable that the office of the State Department, and the firm position of Secretary of State Hull has been virtually attacked by another official who should keep his nose out.

THE POOR GET RICHER

One of the old adages being spotlighted today is that the rich are getting richer and the poor poorer. Yet Dr. Rufus S. Tucker, industrial economist, in an article in the current Quarterly Journal of Economics on "Distribution of Income" gives figures and facts that contradict this theory.

One of the most striking conclusions is that income is now less concentrated in the United States than it was during the time just after the Civil War.

"Although very wealthy persons are more numerous now than then, the number of persons with moderate incomes has increased more than the number of very wealthy persons. At the same time, as shown by other studies, the average purchasing power of wage-earners has increased greatly."

This is only one of the conclusions drawn by this economist. And he bases his conclusions, not on opinions, but on the records of the federal income tax. Certainly this picture does not give weight to the prevailing share-the-wealth movements of visionaries.

In surveying the income of the wealthy, Dr. Tucker arrives at the conclusion that there is a rapid turnover in the upper income brackets.

"The members of the upper income classes," he points out, "are a constantly shifting lot. The income tax statistics as they stand give very little support to the idea of a hereditary plutocracy. Most of the income of wealthy individuals has come from highly variable sources, such as dividends and sale of capital assets."

"Real estate, which was the foundation of the wealth of the ruling classes during most of recorded history, is not now as stable in value as it used to be, and is much more heavily taxed. Consequently, in spite of trust funds and other legalistic devices, it is very difficult to maintain fortunes intact."

In reviewing the recent trend of national wealth and income, Dr. Tucker arrives at the following conclusion: "Persons with incomes equivalent in purchasing power to between 4,000 and 10,000 1929 dollars have become a much larger proportion of the population since 1916, and those with incomes equivalent to $50,000 or more have become a smaller proportion. Even in 1916 the middle class was more important than in 1870, but since 1916 its growth has been more rapid than that of the wealthy class, whether one measures to 1925 or to 1935."

This factual study refutes much of the loose thinking based on the erroneous assumption that wealth and income are becoming more concentrated each year—pretty generally accepted as truth because of constant reiteration throughout the land.

Yet we will never make progress until we face honest facts honestly—and build accordingly.

SPOTLIGHT BRINGS GOOD

The South, "the nation's No. 1 Economic Problem," has for the last few weeks been under the spotlight which the National Emergency Council's report cast upon its problems.

Some of us, like the ostrich hiding its head in the sand, have chosen, no doubt, to ignore the report or to minimize its findings. There is encouragement and a promise of better days, however, in the fact that the Southern public as a whole is doing the reverse of that. Sober study and earnest discussion of corrective measures seem to be growing as the import of the report becomes clearer.

The announcement that a Southern Conference for Human Welfare will be held in Birmingham Nov. 20-23 by leaders representing each of the states covered by the shows, we believe, the beneficial effect a spotlight often has. The Conference, we are told, has been called for the specific purpose of considering remedies for Southern problems. Such a conference will at least serve to notify the world that the South is deeply concerned about its ills, in addition to whatever good it may do besides. And, judging from the list of distinguished Southerners sponsoring the gathering, there is every reason to hope that some program of definite remedial action will be formulated.

Ignoring bad conditions accomplishes nothing, allows the damage to continue. The factual light in which these things are being viewed now by the South deserves sincere praise.

BOUQUETS FOR THE CONSTITUTION

There has been no period in history since the Civil War in which there has been more discussion of the Constitution of the United States than during recent years. National and State legislative bodies and the courts are sticking closer than ever before to the charter of September 17, 1787, adopted by a majority of the 55 delegates from 12 States at Philadelphia.

The one hundred fiftieth anniversary this month has formally approved and re-affirmed the Constitution; in fact covered it with all the bouquets of oratory that statesmen and others were able to express.

The Constitution has to be amended and re-shaped occasionally. Once in awhile it seems to bend a little. But it never breaks!

DOCTORS TO FIGHT

When the Department of Justice announced its intention to obtain an indictment of the American Medical Association as a monopoly it cut out a pretty tough job. The people of the country have their own opinions about doctors, and no one is more respected and esteemed than the family doctor.

The present Administration has made a bad start in singling out doctors as "monopolists" because every family doctor is a business institution all by himself, no matter whether he belongs to a lodge of Masons, Elks, or a local medical society.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

Now, as Foreman of this Grand Jury; I deem it my duty to state, that I never served with a more honest or fairer body of men, and ones more willing to do their sworn duty, without fear or favor, and a body that worked more harmoniously together.

There is nothing in this report that is not contained in the State Auditor's report, signed by him and filed with the Chancery Clerk. This is a public record and every citizen has a right to call for and read it and I think it the duty of every citizen to do so.

Why criticize the Grand Jury; if this Board wants to clear their skirts, why don't they deny the items mentioned in this Auditor's report and prove them false by their own record?

They criticize the Grand Jury for not naming any individual names or bringing indictments. They should thank the Grand Jury for being so lenient. And further, if they prefer indictments, it might not be too late for some Grand Jury to act, further or maybe better, the Bondsman could be given a copy of this report, and let them exonerate the Board with the State Auditor.

Personally, I like all members of the board and consider them my friends, but in view of the State Auditor's report, think they have gone a bit too far in the criticism of the Grand Jury.

The Board criticized the Grand Jury for not mentioning names; I am wondering why they were not so charitable as to mention the names of the Grand Jury who were playing politics.

The Grand Jury presented proof in their report with reference to the Board; I am wondering if this Board will have the proof to submit to the Grand Jury playing politics, when these twenty men and other citizens appear before them and demand it.

I dare the Board to go on record stating the items mentioned in the State Auditor's report to be untrue and that he falsified them.

Unless a changed attitude by the Board immediately, a copy of this resolution and this reply will be forwarded the Bondsman, the District Attorney and the Circuit Judge of this District.

If a judge will not protect his own Grand Jury, he might as well close the Court.

H. J. RAY.

Board's Resolution (August Meeting)

Whereas, it has come to the attention of the members of the Board of Supervisors that the Grand Jury in its report to the

Circuit Court criticized the Board and that such criticism was based on the report of the State Auditing Department, filed on the 16th day of July, 1937, and,

Whereas, said auditor's report reflected only the legal opinion of the auditors who compiled the same, and in fact was not justified, at least as to the whole membership of the Board; and,

Whereas, the Board feels that if there were any basis in fact and in law as to the matters and things in said auditor's report and said Grand Jury report, that said Grand Jury should have acted up of the same and returned indictments, and that their failure so to do and in lieu thereof filing such report is indicative and persuasive that such report was prompted by political propaganda and as such was not justified;

Therefore, be it resolved by the Board that it goes on record in protest against said report as being unfair and unwarranted and the papers of this county are requested to give publicity to this resolution to the same extent as they have to the report of the Grand Jury.

UGLY FACTS

Which Mothers Should Know

Experts agree that modern hygiene and sanitation have failed to remove the constant menace of Pin Worms, which still threatens every child's health and temper. Drinking water, fruits, leafy vegetables, etc., may carry the Pin Worm eggs to the child's stomach. Flies and pigs also spread the infection. Once infected, the child continually scratches the pin or seat worm itch, and the eggs are carried on his hands and under his finger nails to everything he touches or to other children with whom he plays. You can see how easily the infection is spread.

Itching, fighting, bed-wetting, diarrhoea or constipation are the most reliable signs of these tiny worms. No stomachs are they that only a highly specialized and complete 3-way preparation like JAYNE'S can give the child relief from these common tortures.

BEEF CATTLE SHOW AT FAIR

Something new in the way of a livestock show is announced for the Mississippi Free State Fair to be held at Jackson, October 10-15. Paul F. Newell, Extension Animal Husbandman, announces that the livestock show will consist of two view herds, one Hereford and one Aberdeen Angus.

"These herds", announces Mr. Newell, who is livestock superintendent of the State Fair, "will consist of individuals secured from breeding herds over the state. The display will consist of approximately 50 head of choice cattle contributed by Mississippi breeders."

Entries from five Hereford herds have already been received and two entries for the Aberdeen Angus view herd have come in.

Hereford breeders who will exhibit selected individuals include: Frank Barlow, Hermannville; G. B. Harris, Winona; E. W. Sanders, Crystal Springs; O. K. Power, Kosciusko; and C. M. Norman, Hickory. Aldrich Brothers, Michigan City and W. M. Drake, Church Hill, have made entries for the Aberdeen Angus view herd.

Each animal will be identified by name and age on appropriate placards.

W. P. A. BUILDS 842 MILES OF ROADS IN MISSISSIPPI

During the period 1933-1938 the Works Progress Administration has constructed 842 miles of roads, highways and streets in the State of Mississippi, according to Dennis Murphy, of the National Emergency Council.

Improvements have been made to more than 3400 miles of other roads by this agency. 1515 new bridges have been built during the same period by the WPA, while 438 others have been reconditioned. More than three thousand culverts, and approximately a million feet of roadside ditches have been installed.

The WPA was responsible during the same period for building 332 new public buildings in Mississippi, and reconditioning 205 others. Of these new buildings 103 were schools, 79 recreational buildings, 8 were office or administrative and 5 fire houses. Of the reconditioned public buildings 90 were schools, 33 were recreational 12 were courthouses.

Fifteen new athletic fields were constructed by WPA projects, 5 playgrounds, 9 swimming and wading pools, 1 golf course, 24 tennis courts, and 16 new parks. Improvements were made to 47 athletic fields and 340 parks.

Other achievements of the WPA during this period include the laying of 39 miles of new water lines, 88 miles of trunk sewer lines, the constructing of 1071 manholes and 13 water treatment plants. 11 miles of water mains and 6 miles of sewers were reconditioned.

Sewing room projects of the WPA have produced more than two million garments, including 1,726,900 garments for people in need. Nearly ten million hot lunches have been served school children in Mississippi. 155,990 school and library books have been rebound and renovated.

OF BATS AND BOOKS AND SKATES AND SCOOTERS

Habits of neatness and order can be cultivated more easily in children if they have definite places to keep their belongings, according to Mississippi Extension Service specialists.

Most growing children have play and sports equipment for both indoor and outdoor use. Things used out-of-doors, such as skates, bats, croquet sets, tennis rackets, and scooters, are convenient if stored near one of the entrances frequently used by the children. If it is possible to arrange a closet, fitted with shelves and racks, or a chest, nearby, many of these articles can be kept accessible but out of the way. If the basement is dry, sometimes it is the best place for bulky playthings.

Indoor game boards, folding tables, and other recreational equipment that is generally used in the living room or dining room is most conveniently stored in those rooms or in a nearby hall closet. Bookshelves in the living room need not be used entirely for books. They often prove to be a good place for keeping the various games in an orderly way, musical records, magazine files, and so on.

A walk-in closet in the living room or hall is a great help, as shelves can be made the right size for the different articles while folding card tables or game boards will go underneath. Window-seat lockers or chests are more satisfactory when the interior is divided into compartments for specific uses so that the articles wanted will not always be at the bottom of the pile.

"Handling Your Hunting Dog"

The Library has new book on training your bird dog.

Bird dog owners will be pleased to learn that a new book, "Handling Your Hunting Dog," published by Purina Mills, St. Louis, Missouri, has been secured by the Sentinel for the local Grenada Public Library. It contains a wealth of practical information on the training, care, and feeding of bird dogs.

Chapter titles of this instructive book include—Handling Your Hunting Dog; Correcting Faults; Training the Young Dog; Amateur Field Trial Handling; Feeding and Conditioning; Keeping the Dog Clean and Well.

Easy reading directions are given for correcting a bird dog that refuses to back, breaks shot, trails, bolts, blinks, chases rabbits, or is gun shy. Considerable discussion is given to the retrieving of game.

The book is well illustrated.

COTTON GINNING REPORT

Census report shows that 2,597 bales of cotton were ginned in Grenada County from the crop of 1938 prior to September 16, 1938 as compared with 1,642 bales for the crop of 1937.

Ole Miss News

University, Miss., Sept. 28.—The largest opening day crowd in the history of the institution has been predicted for the Louisiana Tech clash Saturday when Ole Miss opens its home schedule.

J. K. Hamm, alumni secretary and assistant athletic director said today all indications pointed toward a huge gathering of alumni and fans for the inaugural tilt.

"Alumni and fans from all over the state will want to see Coach Harry Mehre's team in action," he said, "since they whipped Louisiana State so badly last Saturday night."

The Rebels decisive decision against the Bengals was the biggest upset in the Southeastern conference since the loop was launched some seven years ago.

The University stadium can accommodate comfortably a crowd of nearly 20,000.

Officers for the Home Exemption Department of the State Tax Commission, have been opened on the Fourth floor of the new Capitol building, just over the office of the Secretary of State. The personnel at present will consist of George Scott, Chief of Home Exemption Division of the Mississippi Tax Commission, assisted by Mrs. Kirschmeyer, Secretary.

A statement by the state tax commission entitled "a brief synopsis of the acts embracing the Homestead Exemption Program of 1938" has been issued by Chairman Alf Stone, John F. Frierson and Bruce Van Zandt, commissioners of the State Tax Commission. Among other things the Tax Commission has this to say in regard to the Home Exemption Laws:

"Just as soon as we can have the Homestead Exemption Acts printed in pamphlet form, we shall distribute them throughout the State, as a necessary basis of any real understanding of the Homestead Exemption Program. Meanwhile, we shall establish contacts with county, district and city officials generally, through our present ad valorem field force, for the purpose of explaining through personal discussion the practical operation of these acts. There is nothing complex or mysterious about the procedure. The homeowner will file his applications for exemption with his local assessor. The assessor will pass it on to the board of supervisors of the county and the municipal board. The board of supervisors and the municipal board will either approve or reject it. The proper officials, either the clerk of the board or the city clerk, will make up a claim against the State, represented by the combined total of the exemptions allowed, and certify this claim to the Tax Commission. The Commission will check the claim thus certified to it, and either approve or modify it. The Commission will in its turn certify the amount of the claim thus approved to the State Auditor, and the Auditor will issue his warrant on the State Treasurer, which warrant must under the law be made payable to the properly designated depository of the funds of the taxing unit to which the reimbursement is being made."

The commissioners have this further word to say:

"While we did not seek this additional responsibility, we shall not shirk it. On the contrary, we are taking this means of assuring you that we shall bring to the discharge of these new duties the same spirit of service which has characterized our administration of the revenue laws which in the past have been entrusted to the Commission. This means that there will be no departure from our policy of cooperation rather than coercion, as a foundation stone for our relations with the homeowners, taxpayers and public officials with whom our new duties will bring us in contact."

In this connection the Mississippi Advertising Commission has released to 20 metropolitan newspapers in the middle west and east a lengthy story setting forth the advantages to be derived from the new homestead tax exemptions by Mississippi Homeowners by which they expect to attract the attention of those desiring to change their residences to another state.

"Under the provisions of the state law, any county board of supervisors, may appropriate for one year an amount not exceeding $2,500.00 for the needy children in the county," states W. F. Bond, commissioner of the Department of Public Welfare. He further states that while about a dozen counties are already making an appropriation for this very necessary work, he hopes that this fall many other counties will see fit to do the same thing now that a State program of Child Welfare has been provided for with the cooperation of the Children's Bureau of Washington. There will be no money, states Mr. Bond, to go to needy children unless such is appropriated by the County Boards of Supervisors. Surveys and studies will be made in several counties during the next year. Mr. Bond concludes his statement by saying that if a county has made an appropriation for needy children, the state welfare department will be glad to furnish expert supervision wherever possible.

Mr. Mississippi motorist of an automobile in the lower priced class do you know what composes the automobile you drive on the highways of Mississippi? Well, here it is: A ton and a third of steel; thirty-three pounds of copper and brass; two pounds of tin; twenty-seven pounds of lead; one hundred and forty-four pounds of cast pig iron; one hundred and ten pounds of rubber; one-tenth of a bale of cotton; thirteen square yards of upholstery fabric; two and one-half gallons of spray paint; lacquer; thirty-seven pounds of paper and fibre board; and eighteen square feet of glass. There are 43 million motor vehicles in use in the world today, and 82 per cent are of American manufacture. Virtually 40 per cent of the cars registered outside this country are of American make. The United States and Canada produce 79 per cent of the world's automobiles. Their total in 1937 was 5,016,437. Next to the United States, countries leading in the use of motor transportation are, in the order named, the United Kingdom, France, Germany, Canada, and Australia.

Mississippi State College, at Starkville, has been allotted $169,200 by the PWA for new buildings and improvements, according to President G. D. Humphreys in a statement issued a few days ago. State College is already using two new dormitories, just recently completed, which have been named Magruder Hall and Hull Hall. These two new dormitories provide 234 additional rooms for students at Mississippi State. From the University of Mississippi, from Chancellor A. B. Butts, we learn that there are 26 new members in the faculty and on the staff at the institutions for the 1938-1939 session. The opening address at M. S. C. W. at Columbus, was delivered by Dr. Shelton Phelps, president of Winthrop College, of Rock Hill, S. C.

"Jobs", an eight-page monthly bulletin is being issued by M. K. Horne, Jr., director of the division of research and information of the Mississippi Unemployment Compensation Commission. The first issue has been received by the Secretary of State's department, and is full of interesting articles and statistics dealing with unemployment in Mississippi. The bulletin shows that there are 24 Mississippi Employment offices operating in the state. During the period August 1 to September 10 the Mississippi State Employment Service placed 2,036 persons in jobs with private employers and 5,355 in public employment. At the present time Leon Wheelers, director is in Washington, meeting with a special group of state administrators. He also meets with the conference committee on railroads, of which he is the chairman.

According to H. M. Morse, state oil and gas supervisor, at the present time there are 66 wells in the Jackson Gas Field on the line of production. These 66 wells are producing an average of about a billion cubic feet, more or less, of gas per month. The production will be increased, of course, as the fall and winter months come on. This production represents some $180,000 each month brought into the state. The state of Mississippi owns five gas wells on the old asylum property, and receives about $5,000 per month from these wells. Originally $108,000 was spent by the state for the wells and up to August 26, 1938, the state has received from the wells, $82,004.56, which has been paid into the treasury. In other words in about three or four months more these wells should have paid for themselves, and from then on the state will be profiting at the rate of about $5,000 per month.

Dr. Morse states that interest over the state is increasing and all the oil companies are busy straightening out their leases.

Dr. William D. McCain, director of the Department of Archives and History, spent September 11 to September 13 at Montgomery, Alabama in the Archives and History Department of that state, studying that state's system of classification and handling of archival materials and their methods of serving state officials and public. While Dr. McCain was studying the methods employed in Alabama, Dr. Edwin A. Davis, Director of the Archives department, of Louisiana, was studying methods used by Mississippi in our Archives department, spending September 17 in the New Capitol. According to Dr. McCain the project set-up in his department by the WPA to catalog the collections of the department will be continued, an additional sum has been finally completed it will enable the Mississippi Department of Archives and History to increase its service and efficiency to the people of the State of Mississippi.

Scientists have been attempting to find a process for making quince preserves that would prevent the loss of flavor which follows the customary steaming or parboiling of the fruit to soften it. They recommend putting the pieces of quince into a very thin syrup at the first of the preserving process. As the cooking proceeds the syrup gradually thickens, the quince becomes softer, the natural juices of the fruit go into the syrup, and none of the flavor is lost.

Practical Farmers To Head FSA Work

Jackson, Miss., Sept. 28—A practical, "dirt farmer" today assumes charge of the government's far-flung program to help Mississippi's financially handicapped farm families to help themselves when Marvin T. Aldrich became state director of the Farm Security Administration. He succeeded George M. Reynolds who resigned to accept directorship of the Roosevelt scholarship foundation.

Aldrich is a native of Michigan City where he was engaged with his father in farming for about ten years. He held degrees from the University of Mississippi and Mississippi State before he received his masters degree in agriculture from Iowa State College in 1916.

The new director entered government service in 1934 as a district supervisor for the rural rehabilitation loan program which was then carried on by the Emergency Relief Administration. He was named assistant state director early this year when the rehabilitation program was assumed by the Farm Security Administration after the Resettlement Administration was dissolved.

In his new position Aldrich will direct a loan program affecting the daily lives of over 13,000 Mississippi farm families in every county in the state. The FSA makes supervised farm loans to worthy low-income farmers who are unable to secure reasonable credit from other sources. In addition, Aldrich will coordinate the work of county farm debt adjustment committees, local citizens serving on a voluntary basis in every county to assist financially distressed farmers to work out new debt agreements with their creditors that will prove mutually beneficial. He will also direct community and cooperative loans to enable them to acquire equipment and services jointly that would otherwise be beyond the reach of the individual farmer.

If you have an out-door fireplace in the garden, or an ash pit or incinerator in the yard, all overhanging limbs of nearby trees should be cut back as a fire protective measure, just as they would be in the case of chimneys. A raked space of 10 to 15 feet all around a fireplace at a camp or in a garden is another precaution. Such a cleared space may be planted around its edge with low shrubs and garden plants.

It is not advisable for an inexperienced person to try to tan valuable fur skins or large hides to be made into coats, robes, or rugs. Small fur skins or skins of low market value might be tanned for home or farm use according to directions given in Farmer Bulletin 1334-J, entitled "Home Tanning". A copy of the bulletin may be obtained free from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

1939 Farm Program Similar To 1938

The 1939 farm program for Mississippi and the rest of the country will be similar in most respects to 1938 program, with continued emphasis on a balanced, soil conserving type of farming and minor changes intended to improve and simplify administration, according to T. M. Patterson, administrative officer in charge, AAA.

The proposed new program calls for farm acreage allotments for cotton. Each farm on which feed crops or livestock products are grown for sale also will have an allotment of general soil-depleting crops, which will include the acreage devoted to corn, but no farm will have a separate corn allotment. Payments will be based on compliance with allotments and the carrying out of approved soil building practices as under the present program.

Under the 1939 program a maximum payment will be calculated for each participating farm. The farm can earn this amount by keeping within his soil-depleting crop allotments and attaining the soil-building goal established for the farm. As under this year's program, deductions are to be made for planting in excess of allotments and for failure to carry out the amount of soil-building practices needed to reach the soil-building goal. Crop classifications and soil-building practices will be similar to those approved for this year's program.

A new feature will be the provision that land used for home gardens may be excluded in calculating soil-depleting crops for the farm. This provision was suggested as a means of encouraging better living standards for many farm families.

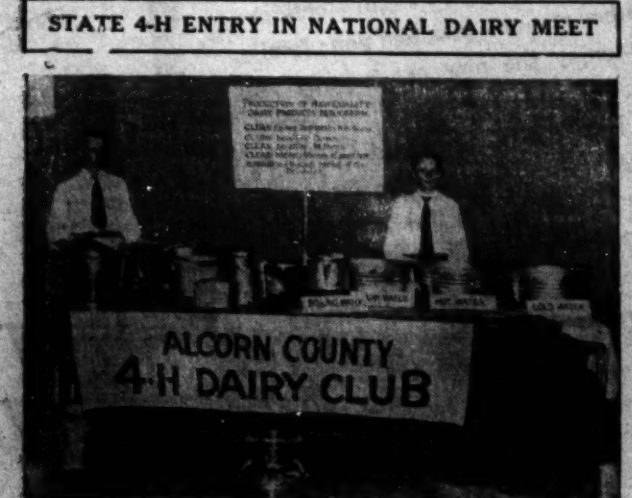

The tentative rate of payment on cotton under the 1939 program is 1.8 to 2 cents per pound plus a price-adjustment payment of 1.8 to 2 cents per pound (from the $212,000,000 appropriated for price-adjustment payments under the price-adjustment act of 1938) — a total of 3.6 to 4 cents per pound on the normal yield of each acre in the farm's cotton allotment.

This represents a cut in the rate of payment for cotton in 1939 as the total payment for 1938 is 5.4 cents a pound. The rates of payment for corn, wheat and rice for 1938 were almost doubled.

The administration of the program, as in 1938, will be through the state agricultural conservation committee, and the county and community farmer committees and county agents.

RECORD CORN SHOW FOR STATE FAIR

JACKSON, OCTOBER 10-15

The national acreage allotment for cotton in 1939 will be about 27,500,000 acres, or approximately the same as for 1938. This will be divided among the states, counties, and individual farms according to the formula provided in the farm act.

It is expected that cotton acreage allotments for individual farms will be determined and announced before producers vote in the cotton marketing quota referendum to be held late this fall.

The tentative rate of payment on cotton under the 1939 program is 1.8 to 2 cents per pound plus a price-adjustment payment of 1.8 to 2 cents per pound (from the $212,000,000 appropriated for price-adjustment payments under the price-adjustment act of 1938) — a total of 3.6 to 4 cents per pound on the normal yield of each acre in the farm's cotton allotment.

This represents a cut in the rate of payment for cotton in 1939 as the total payment for 1938 is 5.4 cents a pound. The rates of payment for corn, wheat and rice for 1938 were almost doubled.

The administration of the program, as in 1938, will be through the state agricultural conservation committee, and the county and community farmer committees and county agents.

MISSISSIPPI FARMERS CURED 2,073,829 LBS. PORK

State College, Miss., Sept. 22—Mississippi farmers cured 2,073,829 pounds of pork in 45 cold storage plants during the 1937-38 season reports Paul F. Newell, extension animal husbandman of Mississippi State College.

A total of 11,746 farmers used the plants to cure their pork. Utilization of cold storage plants not only eliminates losses due to uncertain weather but results in a much higher quality product. Newell believes that if the improvement work is continued "it will materially increase the output and patronage of the plants."

Eleven cooperative cold storage units were in operation for the first time during the past season. The number of plants has increased from one in 1932 to forty-five in 1938.

County agents and extension specialists conducted educational work with farmers during the past season. This concluded method demonstrations in butchering, curing, and storage of pork products. Several 4-H club teams were trained to give butchering and curing demonstrations. All plants used the home-mixer curing formula as recommended by the Mississippi Extension Service.

Newell reports that the use of these curing plants has definitely increased and improved the meat supply for cooperating farmers.

Mississippi Farm News

(By F. J. Hurst)

BEST NEWS OF THE MONTH was the continued prospect for some improvement this fall and winter in the domestic demand for farm products. Farm income is below 1937 figures but the disparity is expected to narrow in coming months. The estimate of 1938 cash farm income from marketings and Government payments is 7.5 billion dollars compared with 8.6 billion in 1937. The decrease is attributed to lower prices of farm products affected by the marked decline in industrial activity and reduced consumer income during the past year.

Mississippi farmers have a double incentive for practicing good farming. The AAA has set aside $3,643,000 for soil-building payments for Mississippi producers in 1938. Each farmer can earn his proportionate part of this sum by carrying out soil-building practices up to the full payment for his farm. The payments will cover a substantial part of the cost of the soil-building practices which it would pay farmers to carry out even if no payments were available.

Farmers have from now until December 31 to carry out additional soil-building practices including terracing, planting winter legumes, seeding new pastures, reseed old pastures, applying superphosphate, basic slag, and lime stone on pastures or under winter cover crops, and planting tree seedlings of approved varieties.

Farmers should include protein in the ration to obtain economical gains in fattening hogs. Eleven bushels of corn alone are required to produce 100 pounds of pork. Six bushels of corn and 50 pounds of a mixture of equal parts of tankage and cottonseed meal will do the same thing. At current prices of tankage and cottonseed meal 50 pounds of this supplement costs around a dollar. It will pay the hog raiser to use this mixture unless he can produce corn for 20 cents a bushel.

Sweet potatoes should be harvested before frost. Experimental results show that sweet potatoes harvested before frost and stored in either storage house or banks kept almost perfectly until spring months. Sweet potatoes dug from 5 to 10 days after the vines were frosted were practically all lost from rot by March. Potatoes should be dug when the soil is dry and handled as carefully as if they were eggs.

The Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation is conducting a drive to obtain 30,000 members which officials believe is the minimum number essential for an effective farm organization. Dues are $2 per member. One of the aims of the organization will be to retain the good features of the 1933 AAA farm program and add needed improvements. The Farm Bureau is making a fight to restore the proposed cut in payments for cotton in 1939.

A visit to the Mississippi Free State Fair in Jackson during the week of October 10-15 should prove profitable as a wealth of practical information will be available to visitors who study the numerous farm and home exhibits which will be on display.

LIGHT AND VENTILATION FOR THE FARM KITCHEN

Good ventilation and light are necessities in a kitchen, says Miss Lorraine Ford, extension specialist in home management at Mississippi State College. A cross current of air keeps the kitchen cool and carries off food odors. Windows in two side walls are needed, or one or two windows in one wall and a door in another. The outside door should have a screened transom for ventilation. If the kitchen is at all dark, having the upper half of the outside door glass would add needed light.

When the windows extend as near to the ceiling as possible, they help to carry off hot air and food odors when opened from the top. They should be screened from top to bottom. Another point about setting windows high in a kitchen is that other equipment may be placed beneath them. High windows give good lighting in the daytime. Good artificial lights, arranged to prevent glare, are also needed.

As a further aid to kitchen lighting, the walls should be light colored. Glaring white is not usually liked, but light tans and grays with enough yellow to give them life are satisfactory. They are neutral, do not show soil easily, and yet reflect considerable light.

Study Shows Farm Export Recovery

Depends On Three Major Commodities

New York, Sept. 28—(UP)—The recovery of foreign markets for U. S. Farm products may depend pretty largely on what happens to three major agricultural items, according to a special report just released by the agricultural committee of the National Association of Manufacturers.

In a study of "Foreign Trade in Agricultural Products," laid before a wide list of business men and farmers, the committee says that the shrinkage in exports of grain, meat, and cotton account for over 85 per cent of the decreases in U. S. farm exports.

Ten years ago, says the report, agricultural exports were valued at $1,907,780,000 and formed over 16 per cent of the total gross farm income. In the crop year 1936-37, agricultural exports had shrunk to $732,826,000 and formed only about seven and a half per cent of total farm income. Part of this decrease of $1,200,000,000, the committee says, was due to the fact that prices for all goods were much lower in 1936-37 than in 1926-27. "But of far more importance," it says, "is the fact that $1,018,647,000, or approximately 87 per cent of this decrease was accounted for by cotton, wheat and meat."

"Therefore unless reciprocal trade agreements can increase exports in these three fields, in each of which a special condition prevails, it is difficult to see how they can materially increase our total farm exports."

Pasture and Scratch Grain Makes Mature Turkeys Fat Early

The cheapest way to fatten mature turkeys is to allow them to range on green pasture and feed them a scratch grain mixture made up of equal parts of corn, barley, wheat, and oats, says F. Z. Beanblossom, extension poultry specialist of Mississippi State College.

Beanblossom calls attention to experiments by the United States Department of Agriculture which show this combination of pasture and scratch grain started early in September will add weight and finish to mature turkeys in plenty of time for the Thanksgiving market.

Either white or yellow corn may be used in the grain mixture, depending upon the kind of finish desired. Yellow corn fed liberally gives a yellow tinge to the turkey skin. The skin remains whiter when white corn is fed, although plenty of green pasture should be available to turkeys fed white corn so that they will have an ample amount of vitamin A that the birds otherwise get from yellow corn.

If pasture is not available, mature turkeys may be fattened on regular mash and scratch commonly fed to growing turkeys, says the extension specialist.

On my neighbor's farm a terrace a half mile long caught and held 18,500 gallons of water after a single rain.

FOURTH QUARTERLY

birds singing so sweetly over their graves, but how sad the note would be if there was no preaching at Bethel Church.
Many of the descendants of these pioneers are scattered far and near but their heart strings are still tied to old Bethel Church and we believe they would help if they knew.
These churches are most fortunate in having Rev. H. N. McKibbin for pastor who has been most faithful in the discharge of his duties. His splendid wife, whose health has not permitted her to be as active in church work as she once was, is ever ready to do what she can and all the churches are unanimous in wanting them returned to this work when the general Conference meets the last of October. The parsonage is located at Duck Hill. Bethel Church must not fail.
